Mr. K. patrols fall activities

Enthusiasm abounded as fall '82 dawned warm and clear. Los Altos' students maintained this excitement by participating in many memorable fall activities.

"Radical" was a term used to describe the welcome back dance, as well as the crowd's antics at the well-attended football games. Culture was brought to campus by the Drama club's production of "The Bad Seed." Hat day and tie day, along with the "fire it up" rally, allowed students to show their abundant school spirit. Hectic homecoming week was filled with activities such as flower parties, float building, and the dance itself. Dracula, in the form of the Red Cross, arrived on campus and found plenty of willing donors for its blood drive.

A homecoming victory shines through

Homecoming 1982 proved to be a success in spite of the clouds that loomed overhead. Beginning with the traditional senior breakfast, the day progressed with the annual parade and the float competition — won by the class of '85 with the theme "Sink the Vikings." The festivities climaxed as Queen Jennifer Kuiper and King Bob Burgess reigned over the football game in which the Eagles rallied to smother Palo Alto, 28-14. That night, spirits were high as couples rocked out to the music of Zoomer.

... to success

Under the exceptional leadership of director Daryl Jack and drum major Rick Henderson, the Los Altos High School Eagle marching band had a superior season. Traveling to Southern California for competition in Simi Valley, the band placed first in its division. The flag team, led by Karen Alfke, took third place. Other competitions in which the band participated were Cupertino, Lodi, and Pacific Grove, where they took second place. Fund raisers enabled the band to travel to these competitions. These fund raisers included selling M and M's and cheese and sausage, car washes, paper drives, and the annual spaghetti dinner.

Students participate in school and state government

The Student Senate consists of elected representatives from all English classes and several members-at-large, admitted by petition. The Senate, led by seniors Christine Stanley and Moosie Baron, voted on all school expenditures exceeding 200 dollars, and were actively involved in passing the school budget. Activities this year included sponsoring the Holiday Faire, May Faire, and computer dating.

Selected last spring to represent LAHS at Girls' and Boys'

State were seniors Lisa Byrd and Roger Eng. The program is a mock-governmental system designed to educate students in the making of laws and ordinances. Both Byrd and Eng, during one-week sessions in Sacramento, were elected to positions in the state government. Eng, elected councilman, commented, "The Boys' State program was an outstanding experience for me because I learned as much in one week as most people would learn in a lifetime."

Gaffney, Holiday Faire spread Christmas cheer

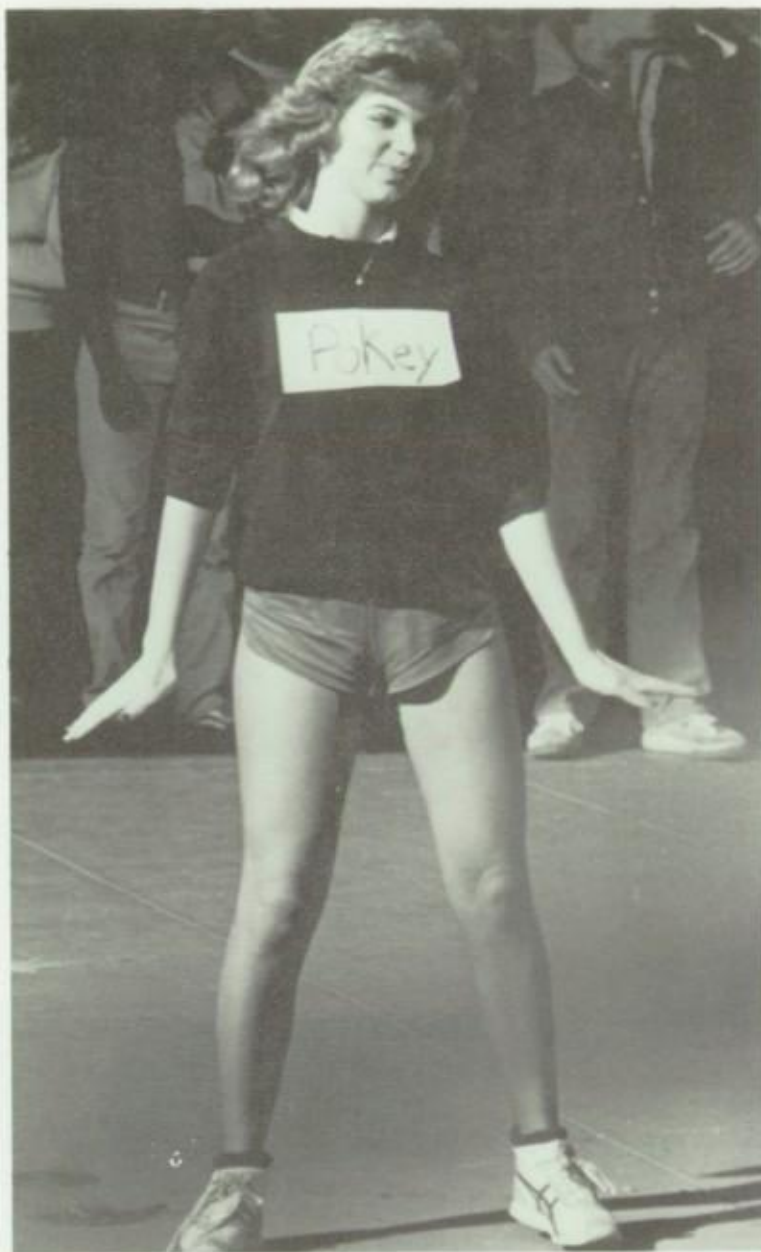

Although Winter '82 was, for the most part, cold and wet, students' spirits were kept up by many enjoyable activities. Especially heartwarming was Los Altos' response to Mr. Walt Gaffney's Christmas Exchange program for the needy. A record number of donations was received, proving that the real Christmas Spirit still lives at Los Altos. A successful Holiday Faire, a visit by Santa, and the winter dance rounded out the Christmas season. A new activity was inaugurated when a team of Los Altos students entered the 15th annual Millard Fillmore Memorial Scavenger Hunt. Although rookies, the team members made a fantastic showing, placing higher than any previous first-time team.

Consisting of over a hundred twenty singers, the Los Altos High School vocal music department is divided into three groups — Chorale, Concert Choir and Harmattan. Dr. Len Cook directs each of these groups.

Concert choir is a beginning singing class in which, this past year, there were thirty-five students. Chorale, a more advanced class that performs both on and off campus, is the largest of the three groups, with over seventy singers. They perform a variety of music styles from traditional to show music. Harmattan, a jazz vocal ensemble, has been rated as one of the finest high school vocal groups in Northern California. Harmattan is the only group that students try out for, and the competition is intense because only sixteen singers and four instrumentalists are chosen.

Harmattan, along with Chorale, made their annual spring tour to Southern California in May.

As Marching band's season ends, the Eagle musicians separate into two bands: Symphonic band and Concert band. Symphonic band plays mainly transcriptions for orchestral works, while Concert band concentrates on pieces expressly written for bands.

Both of these bands give free public concerts twice a year, in addition to competing in festivals such as the CMEA (California Music Educators Association) band festival at San Jose State. Individual performers also compete in this festival.

This year, four outstanding musicians represented Los Altos in the County Honor Band. This band is made up of the best high school musicians in Santa Clara County. The four from Los Altos are: David Owens, tuba; Margaret Wolfram, flute; Lisa Davenport, clarinet; and Karen Davenport, French horn.

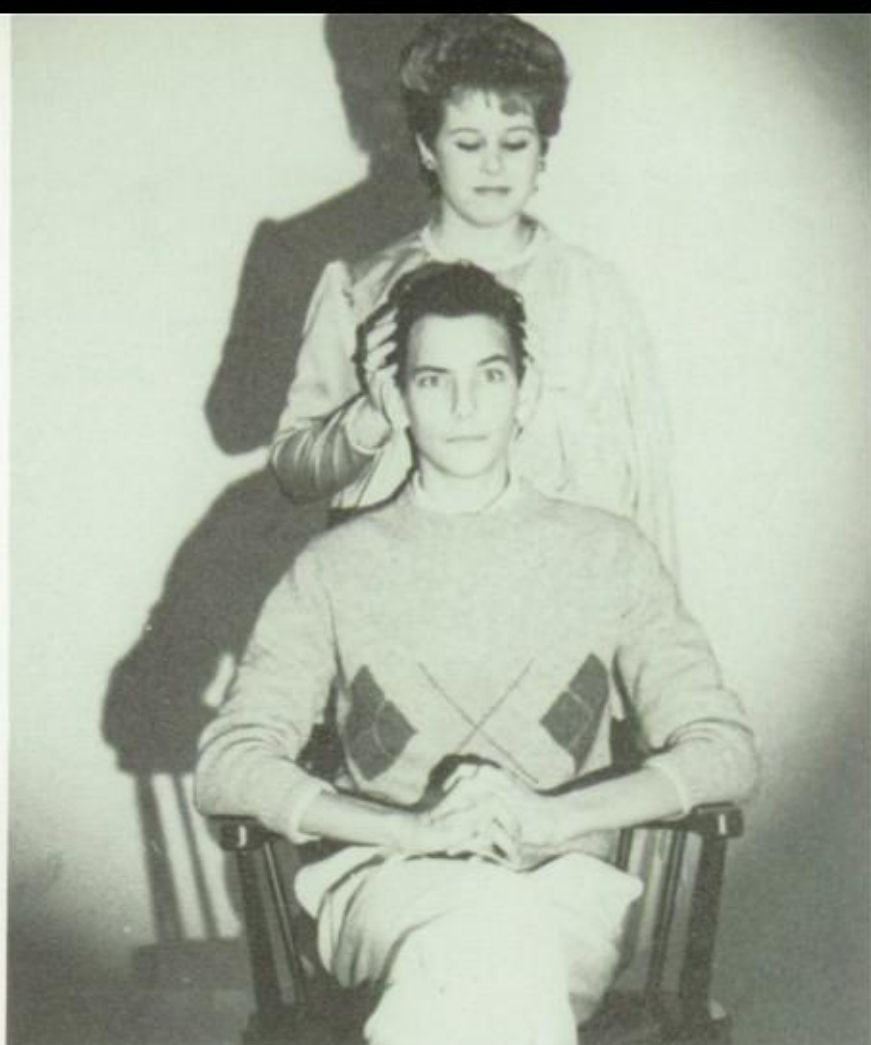

Both the Symphonic and Concert bands are led by conductor Darryl Jack.

Tamaraw, Cinco de Mayo represent cultures

Performed by both Filipino and non-Filipino students, Tamaraw was a joint effort with Mt. View High School to bring understanding of Filipino culture to all members of the community. Choreographer Helen Pastor, a former teacher in the Philippines, organized authentic folk dances from different regions of the Philippine Islands. A completely different show from last year, Tamaraw included dances showing Muslim and Negrito Spanish influence and scenes from fishing and farming villages. With the support of Ben Menor and Rudy Kelly, Tamaraw was an exciting cultural success.

Celebrating the battle that sparked Mexican independence, Cinco de Mayo is a time for expressing and sharing a sense of cultural awareness, unity, and pride for Spanish-speaking people in America.

Beginning with a traditional Mexican dinner, the evening progressed with live entertainment provided by Mariachis Azteca. Folk dances were performed by Los Altos students. The ancient dances reflect Spanish, Indian, and Mexico's own influence in Mexico. Organized and directed by Diane Meyers, Cinco de Mayo was an educational experience for the entire school. Reigning Cinco de Mayo queen, Irma Hernandez, chosen at last year's celebration, stepped down, as the new queen was chosen at the end of the fiesta.

Although it was appreciated by the student body, Cinco de Mayo was also a community affair. The food was donated by local restaurants and stores, and more than 700 people attended the performance at the Mt. View Commons.

Creativity sparked by dancers' grace

Led by dance director Sherry Curtis and assisted by Anna Wolfgram and student choreographers Darrin Evans, Lisa Galindo, Ringit Gurlich, Yumi Kawazowe, Pia Kesti-Helia, Norma Mata, Joan Monaco, Mark Rodriguez, and Tia Rossi, Dance Concert '83 went on. The show included ballet, jazz, and other dance forms.

Senior Concert: in a class of its own

Displaying a diversity of bands, the incredibly talented members of the senior class put together a musical extravaganza. The Senior Concert included such well-known names such as Hall and Oates, The Who, Tubes, and the Police. But there were lesser-known names, too, which made for a disparate show: Total Coello, Waitresses, Chuckwagon, and Oingo Boingo. "Papa-Oom-Mow-Mow" by the Rivingtons was popular for its fresh sound and choreography.

Live performances provided a respite from the usual sound of recordings. "Gloria" helped to open the concert, and a duet by Tim Gray and Brad Clarkson continued the show after an intermission. Closing the show was a live band consisting of four seniors. In the words of one senior, "The diversity and originality of this year's Senior Concert demonstrates our class' uniqueness."

Soul, Body and Blood

In honor of Black History Month and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the Black Student Union joined forces with the drama department to produce a show featuring drama, dance, and song entitled The Soul, the Body and the Blood. The show is dedicated to the awareness of the black race and their achievements and contributions to our country.

The cast did a sketch based on the TV series "Good Times" called "Michael Gets Suspended." Scenes from Ntozake Shange's Spell #7 — A Manual for Technologically Stressed Third World People were also performed. The finale included the recitation of Dr. King's speech "I Had a Dream" by Payton Price. The eight-member cast included Lorrie Harris, James Mosely, Nate Ford, Cherie Barfield, Vita Gary, Cindy Moreno, Anthony McPherson, and Payton Price. Advisers were BSU advisers Ric Ricard and Marion Winters and Fran Schomberg, LAHS drama director.

LA Times presses to inform

Under the guidance of Celia Henderson, the newspaper staff worked diligently to perfect the professionalism of the LA Times. The journalism students were able to overcome financial problems and produced monthly issues of the newspaper. "We hope the student body will continue to support the paper," stated Ms. Henderson; "These students have a good future in journalism."

*LA TIMES STAFF: C. Anderson, S. Anderson, E. Baron, B. Bratman, A. Chan, S. Cunningham, P. Cureton, M. Daley, B. Francis, D. Gatto, D. Grinfas, C. Groper, R. Howard, H. Hubbard, L. Kratzer, S. ## RADIO CLUB

Headed by Gene Olavson, the Radio Club proved to be more than a social club of members communicating over a ham radio. A few of the club's activities ranged from learning theories to obtaining licenses for the students' own stations.

MATH CLUB

The competitive Math Club attended contests at the University of Santa Clara and San Jose State, as well as sponsoring the Math Trivia Contest within the school. In his second year at Los Altos, Amar Chadda advised the group in the research and thinking aspects of problems. The club differs from the normal math class in that the problems require more creative solutions.

Black Student Union gets involved

The Black Student Union exists as a cultural club to discuss and design activities to create a greater awareness of the black community. Advised by Marion Winters and Ric Ricard, BSU reinforced the faith of its members by discussing and attempting to solve personal problems. BSU stressed the importance of Black History Month by producing a play, sponsoring a dance, and holding a bake sale.

BIRDING CLUB

The Birding Club, advised by Leonard Helton, showed interest in the characteristic behavior of many species of birds. Coyote Hills National Park, Mt. Tamalpais, Deer Hollow, and the Baylands are a few of the locations the club ventured in their search for interesting kinds of birds. According to Sydney Smith, president of the group, "Anybody can go on these excursions, and the number of people who accompany us continually varies."

MEMBERS: J. Crowder, K. Ericsson, J. Koon, S. Lokken, M. Rhodes, S. Smith, L. Wallace.

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club encouraged the awareness of European languages and culture, with emphasis on the French. Under the direction of Marilyn McCammon, the activities of the French Club ranged from planning dinners to attending various films. Always active, the club's functions included selling suckers on Valentine's Day.

MEMBERS: R. Chojnacki, K. DeJong, M. Gee, J. Helson, H. Kim, J. Koon, T. Nyugen, K. Polata, M. Thompson, D. Troyer, M. Troyer, K. Wiggan, L. Williams.

Junior State, Model U.N., Chess Club

The main function of Junior State is to provide a political forum for high school students to learn and experience politics and government. Junior State is a student-run organization whose power is based on bills and proposals that are actually sent to the state legislature. The organization's members attended two min-conferences in the fall and spring in which they debated and discussed controversial issues.

The Model United Nations is a club created to promote interest in the United Nations, political activities, and foreign governments. Involving research and creativity, UMN focused on district and regional conferences that were executed in the United Nations format. Nine delegates participated in two MUN conventions at Santa Teresa High School and Berkeley.

The Chess club, advised by Doug Bailey, perfected various game tactics by playing chess daily. The Chess club members did well in competitions against other local high schools that were held throughout the school year.

Under the guidance of Tom Rogers and Sumi Uyeda, the Asian club continued to extend the Asian culture among other students. In order to learn about Asian culture, the club planned field trips to Oriental museums and examined Asian lifestyles. The club's major fund raiser was the turkey curry sale at the Holiday Faire; it was a big hit and attracted many customers.

ASIAN CLUB MEMBERS: K. Bunja, L. Cabarloc, R. Cabarloc, S. Chambers, E. Chan, R. Eng, L. Fryday, T. Hui, C. Lee, K. Means, T. Nguyen, V. Somera, G. Yeh.

BIKE CLUB

An outdoor recreational organization, the Bike club planned trips to Yosemite and Santa Barbara and completed many overnight trips to Big Basin. Members met regularly to discuss rides, new biking techniques, and girls.

JUGGLING CLUB

The Juggling club existed as a new group on campus under the watchful eye of Ron Moser. Primarily a juniors' club, the jugglers organized seminars to teach faculty and students the fundamentals of juggling. Co-presidents Max Haynes and Matt Troyer hope to start a new trend, stating that the only qualification to join the club is the ability to juggle.

CSF displays high academics

Picking up as the theater season came around, the California Scholastic Federation attended a few plays at the ACT (American Conservatory Theater) in San Francisco. Because of the surplus in treasury funds, CSF did not need to have fund raisers this year. The high academic level of Los Altos High School produced over three hundred members to the club, and adviser Joe McMahon mentioned a possibility for scholarships for seniors with outstanding academic achievements. Closing the year, CSF volunteers will be ushers at graduation. A traditional CSF activity, the group's ushering has been complimented by students and parents alike.

STRATEGIC GAMES

The Strategic Games club demonstrated various board game techniques by playing daily throughout the school year. The many members of the club enjoyed strategic games such as Strategy and Risk. According to adviser Doug Bailey, qualifications to join the club are minimal, and the techniques needed to play the games are perfected with practice.

GAL

The Girls' Athletic League had a fruitful year with the sales of long-sleeved "LA" shirts, letter jackets and painter hats and the sponsorship of the annual Sadies dance. Governing girls athletics, GAL held sports award banquets for the fall, winter, and spring sports. GAL officers kept files on all female athletes and chose the Block LA award recipients. Encouraging athletic abilities, GAL also offered scholarships to outstanding female athletes.

AFS and FYO

AFS, American Field Service International/Intercultural Programs, sends high school students to live with families in other cultures, for an adventure in understanding. The existence of the student AFS club and of the local AFS adult chapter makes it possible for AFS programs to function. With the assistance of AFS International headquarters in New York, these groups select students, find families, coordinate social activities, raise funds, and offer an ongoing program of orientation, counseling, and special enrichments.

This year, Los Altos High School hosted three AFSers: Hannah Dougan from Cape Coast, Ghana, hosted by the Harmon Brown family; Luis Benia from Pelotas, Brazil, hosted by the Beverly Rudolph and the Lottie Jenvey families; and Freddy Maingon from Guayakuil, Ecuador, hosted by the Joseph McMahon family.

For 1982-83, Cindy Davis spent eight weeks in Nairobi, Kenya; and Katy DeBra graduated from high school in Talcahuano, Chile. Lisa Husmann wrote that she's enjoying riding her three-speed bike in the snow in Harnosand, Sweden; and Lora Spierling has learned to "think in Spanish" during her year in Caracas, Venezuela. The 1983-84 representatives are David Smathers, Cynthia Strand, Nadia Thormities, and Jacqueline Watney.

FYO continued its outstanding involvement with the school and the community. The club raised money by selling lumpia at the Holiday Faire, selling candy during the school year, and sponsoring school dances with Mountain View High School. The Tamaraw Show, a cultural event with authentic folk dances from the Philippines performed by FYO, was widely appreciated by other schools and communities such as Jordan Middle School in Palo Alto, the Sunnyvale Methodist Church, Independence High School in San Jose, and the Los Altos Senior Center. Los Altos High's own Tamaraw Show premiered in April. The inclusion of non-Filipinos in the performance of the show furthered FYO's goal to promote awareness of Filipino culture and heritage in and out of the Filipino community. The advisors are Helene Quita and Rudy Kelly.

Eagles battle to CCS competition

The year 1982 — it finally happened. To the surprise of many, the LA Eagles slipped into the CCS playoffs after a three-year absence. The team, eager to win, wanted to give the class of 83 the thrill of victory at least once in the seniors' four years here. Coach Bob Baird was "very pleased with the results of the season," especially "because we played way above the pre-season expectations of the coaches and the media," the so-called experts.

According to Coach Baird, the success was "a mixture of a lot of things. The quarterback (MVP Rick Gustafson) was a real factor, as was the running and receiving of Matt Gaal (Outstanding Back Award), Stuart Higginbotham (RB), and Ted Barrett (TE)." Another key was the kicking of Mark Cabot (first team ALL-SCVAL), "one of the best we've had at Los Altos in a long time." Dave Helson was named Outstanding Lineman.

The defense was also a key to success, keeping opponents to 21 points or under in seven of nine games. The Outstanding Defensive Player was Dave Blach. The Herm Meister Award, for an outstanding lineman, went to Paul Rector. In the final regular season game, the defense held on, enabling the offense to engineer a thrilling come-from-behind victory over rival Mountain View. This victory capped off the regular season, propelling the Eagles into the CCS playoffs.

The first round matched LA against favorite Los Gatos. Los Gatos scored the first two touchdowns, but was silenced the rest of the way. Los Altos scored the last three touchdowns for a final score of 21-14. The next game resulted in a quarterfinal loss to heavily favored Saratoga, 59-0.

Coach Baird felt that prospects for next season looked good. Projected returning starters included Dan Druker, Ralph Cheadle, and Brian Van Vleck. Tyler Burke, the frosh — soph All-League MVP, should also strengthen the team at running back.

JV: "A great season"

In the words of Coach Steve Schaumleffel, "it was a great season, an excellent turnaround." JV football rebounded from a 3-5 record in 1981 to a 5-1 league mark in 1982. The season began slowly, with pre-season losses to Lynbrook and Gunderson. But LA rallied from the start of SCVAL play.

After defeating Gunn in the opener, they lost to Wilcox. They were 1-3. Then the surge came, which saw the Eagles win the last four in a row, culminating in a football sweep of Mountain View.

Running back Tyler Burke was sensational, being named MVP of the entire SCVAL. After the completion of the season, Burke was moved up to varsity for the CCS playoffs. Other top players who were moved up included Dave Mason, Chris McClure, and Paul Gallitero.

Remaining undefeated in league for the third year in a row, the Eagle volleyball team had another outstanding season. Part of the credit for the team's success goes to MVP Shari Rodgers. The young team, consisting of two freshmen, three sophomores, two juniors, and only three seniors, placed third in CCS. Harold Yada, who has coached the team for six years, is looking forward to another exceptional season next year because of the team's youth. Lynn Hollinger, a former LA volleyball player, returned this year as assistant coach.

The JV also had a commendable year, taking first place in league. They had a record of 5-1, losing only to Gunn. Many of their games were close, but MVP Amy Carleton helped the Eagles pull through in the clinch. Coach Anna Wolfgram attributed her team's success to "control."

Tennis players swing to success

Coached by Bob Lowe, the varsity girls' tennis team finished the year in good standing. The young team, led by freshman Michelle McKeen, ended the season in an admirable third place behind Palo Alto and Gunn. According to Coach Lowe, the outcome of the matches was predictable except for the unexpected victory over Los Gatos. "This year was a building year, but with the freshmen coming back next year, we will be a stronger team," stated Coach Lowe.

The junior varsity team, coached by Steve Miyano, placed fourth in league standings. Team leaders included Kellie Wiggan, Nancy McKee, and Trang Nguyen.

Young runners keep cross country in pace

Despite their shortage of runners, the cross country teams did well. The record did not reflect the strengths of boys' varsity; however, it did frosh-soph justice by proclaiming them first in the league. Girls' varsity placed fourth in league finals, and frosh-soph took third.

Rod Rydell was the most exceptional runner on the boys' team. Only a freshman, he was named MVP. Upperclassmen Craig Anderson and Scott Lewis were both given the Hard Work award. The MVP award was shared by Jim Crouch and Hubert Dubruelle. On the girls' team, Tracy Paaso, also a freshman, displayed her talent. Katie Hauser and Tracy were commended as the team's most valuable runners.

Coach Linda Johnson was pleased with this year's team. She said, "This is only the second year that we've had a separate team for girls. The girls were wonderful!" Coach Alex Paszkeicz was equally proud of the boys: "We had an outstanding young team this year. It's unusual to have so many underclassmen capable of running varsity."

Hockey sticks out season with determination

Motivated by a spirit of enthusiasm and determination, both field hockey teams achieved important goals. The players improved tremendously in basic hockey maneuvers and stick skills, as well as in teamwork. They increased their speed and stamina as the season progressed. Perhaps most importantly, the athletes enjoyed themselves.

The varsity team, coached by Sue Williams, was sustained by a powerful defense. Coach Williams stated, "We were a hard team to score on." Team-elected offensive MVP Kate Brew and defensive MVP Ally Wreaks each made effective contributions to the team's success. According to Williams, the team was very talented, and "everybody did a super job." Player turnout was high, and Williams felt that the team would continue to grow. Williams planned to return next year to coach, anticipating more difficult conditioning and more victories.

Coach Lisa Salas emphasized the JV team's persistence and diligence. She stressed the acquisition of fundamental hockey skills to the young and initially inexperienced team. Salas was impressed by the players' effort and judged that they "improved about 300%." Key contributions were made by MVP Kelli Rudnick and MIP Nicole Rossi.

Aquajocks get on the ball

Starting the season with a team plagued by youth but abundant with enthusiasm, the varsity water polo team completed league play with a 1-5 record. The team's only league victory came against Wilcox, but they were only narrowly defeated by Milpitas and Palo Alto.

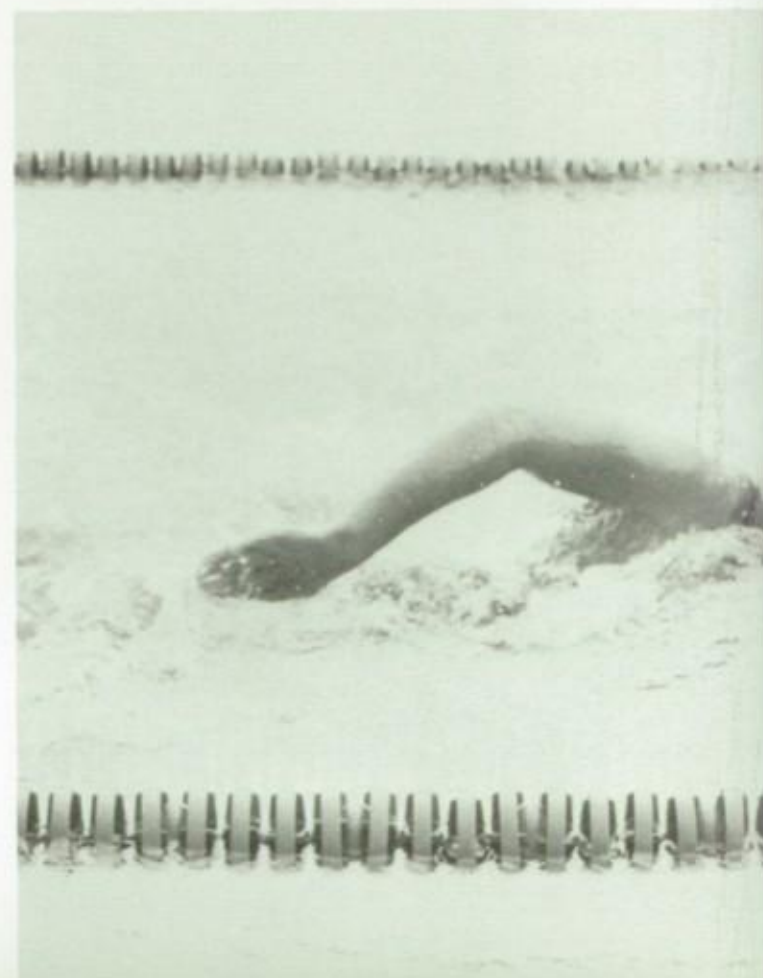

The most prominent veteran players were Rick Chojnacki and Matt Finnigan. Rick displayed qualities of an exceptional all-around player, and Matt led the offensive, scoring half of all team goals, receiving all-league honors, and being voted team MVP. Several first-year players also showed outstanding ability in the pool: Brent Black, the goalie, Evan Rauch, and MIP Bob Ghaffari.

When questioned about next year's team, Coach Travis Wycoff replied, "With all starters but one returning and the progress of four or five younger players, it is feasible to finish league next year with a 5-1 record."

The frosh-soph team had an excellent season, finishing league in third place. Four players made all-league teams; Hans Almgren, MVP, and Nick Marten made the first team, while Rob Boyd and goalie Eric Espe made the honorable mention team. "Our goal for frosh-soph was to introduce the players to the demands it takes, not only to get in the physical shape it takes to survive an enduring sport, but to survive at the varsity level," stated Coach Wycoff.

Swimmers stroke to success

Led by outstanding seniors Kim Means and Vicki Rydell, the girls' varsity swim team finished dual meet competition with a 5-1 record. Showing their determination, the girls edged out a victory over Gunn's sixty-member team with an important win in the 200 medley relay. Entering the SCVAL championship meet in a three-way tie with Gunn and Santa Clara, the team went on to capture a league victory. Coached by Kevin Perry and Kathy Thomas, the team performed well throughout the season with several girls qualifying for CCS competition.

The JV team posted an impressive 5-1 record, and Coach Thomas felt that the team was "one of the strongest JV teams we've ever had." The young girls worked hard and finished the season with a third place at SCVAL.

The varsity team completed the season with a fourteenth place in CCS. Leslie Warren finished strong in the 100 yard butterfly for a fourth place and Means took fourteenth in the 500 yard freestyle. The 400 yard freestyle relay team, consisting of Warren, Rydell, Means, and Cindy Kendrick, finished first in the consolation heat to place ninth overall.

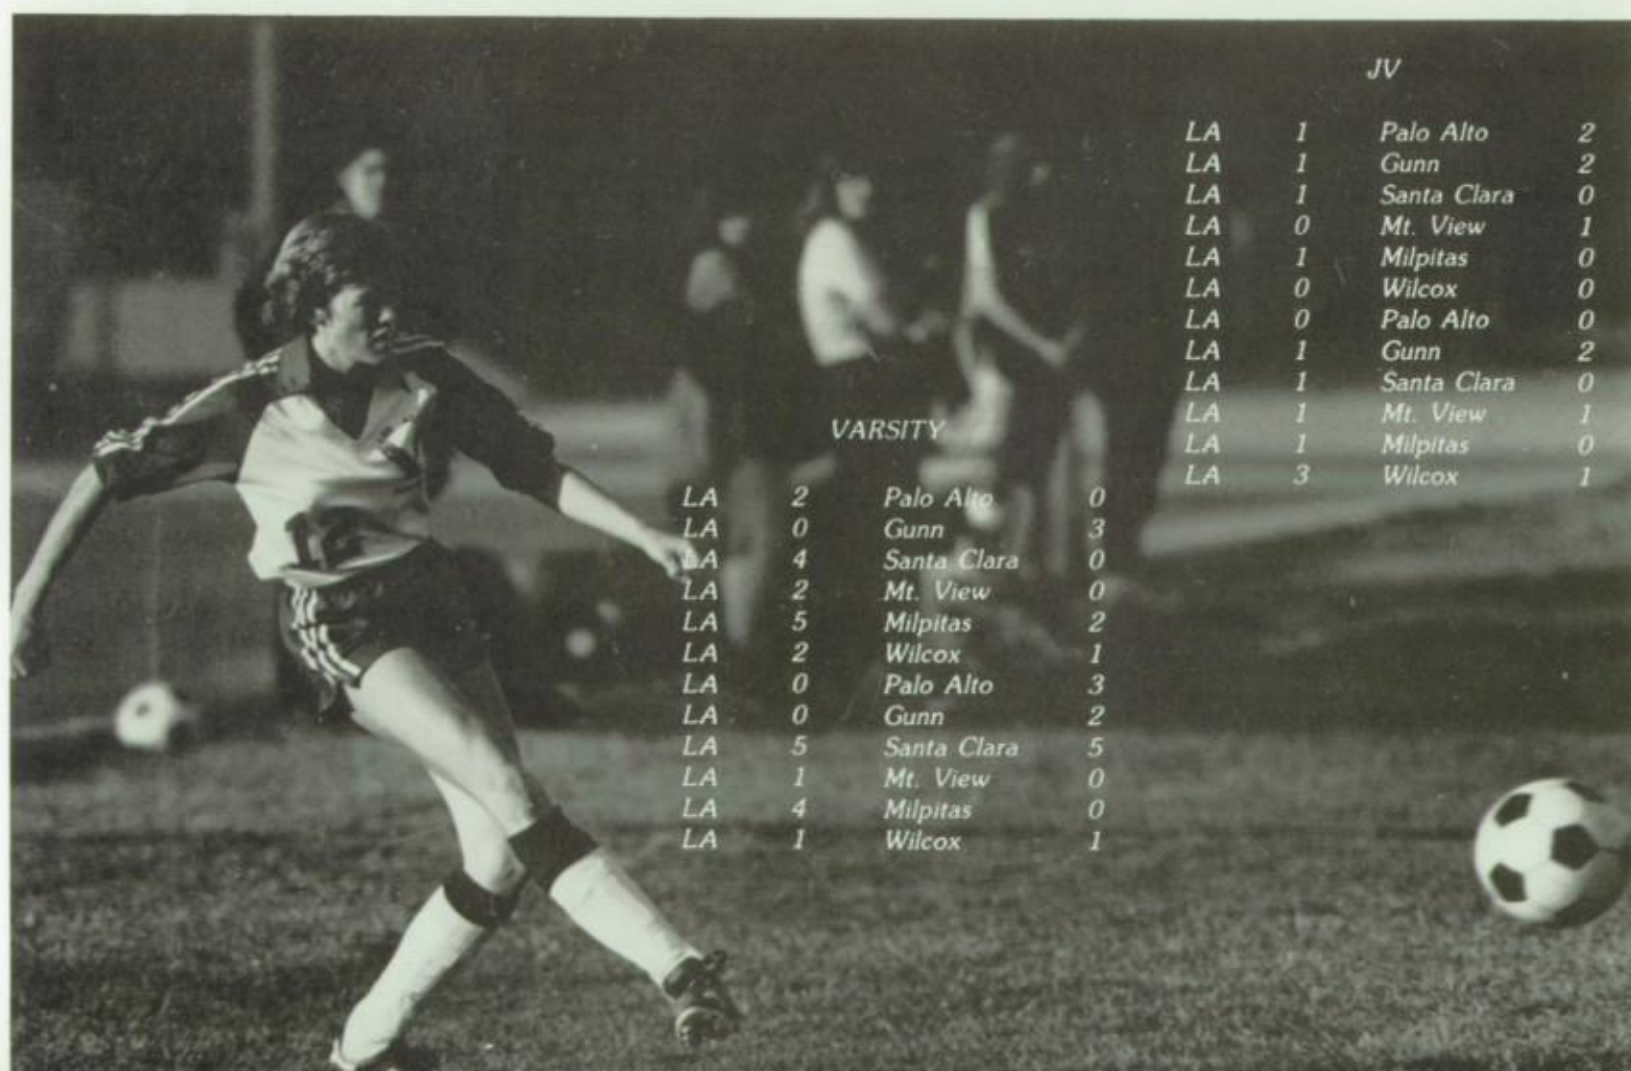

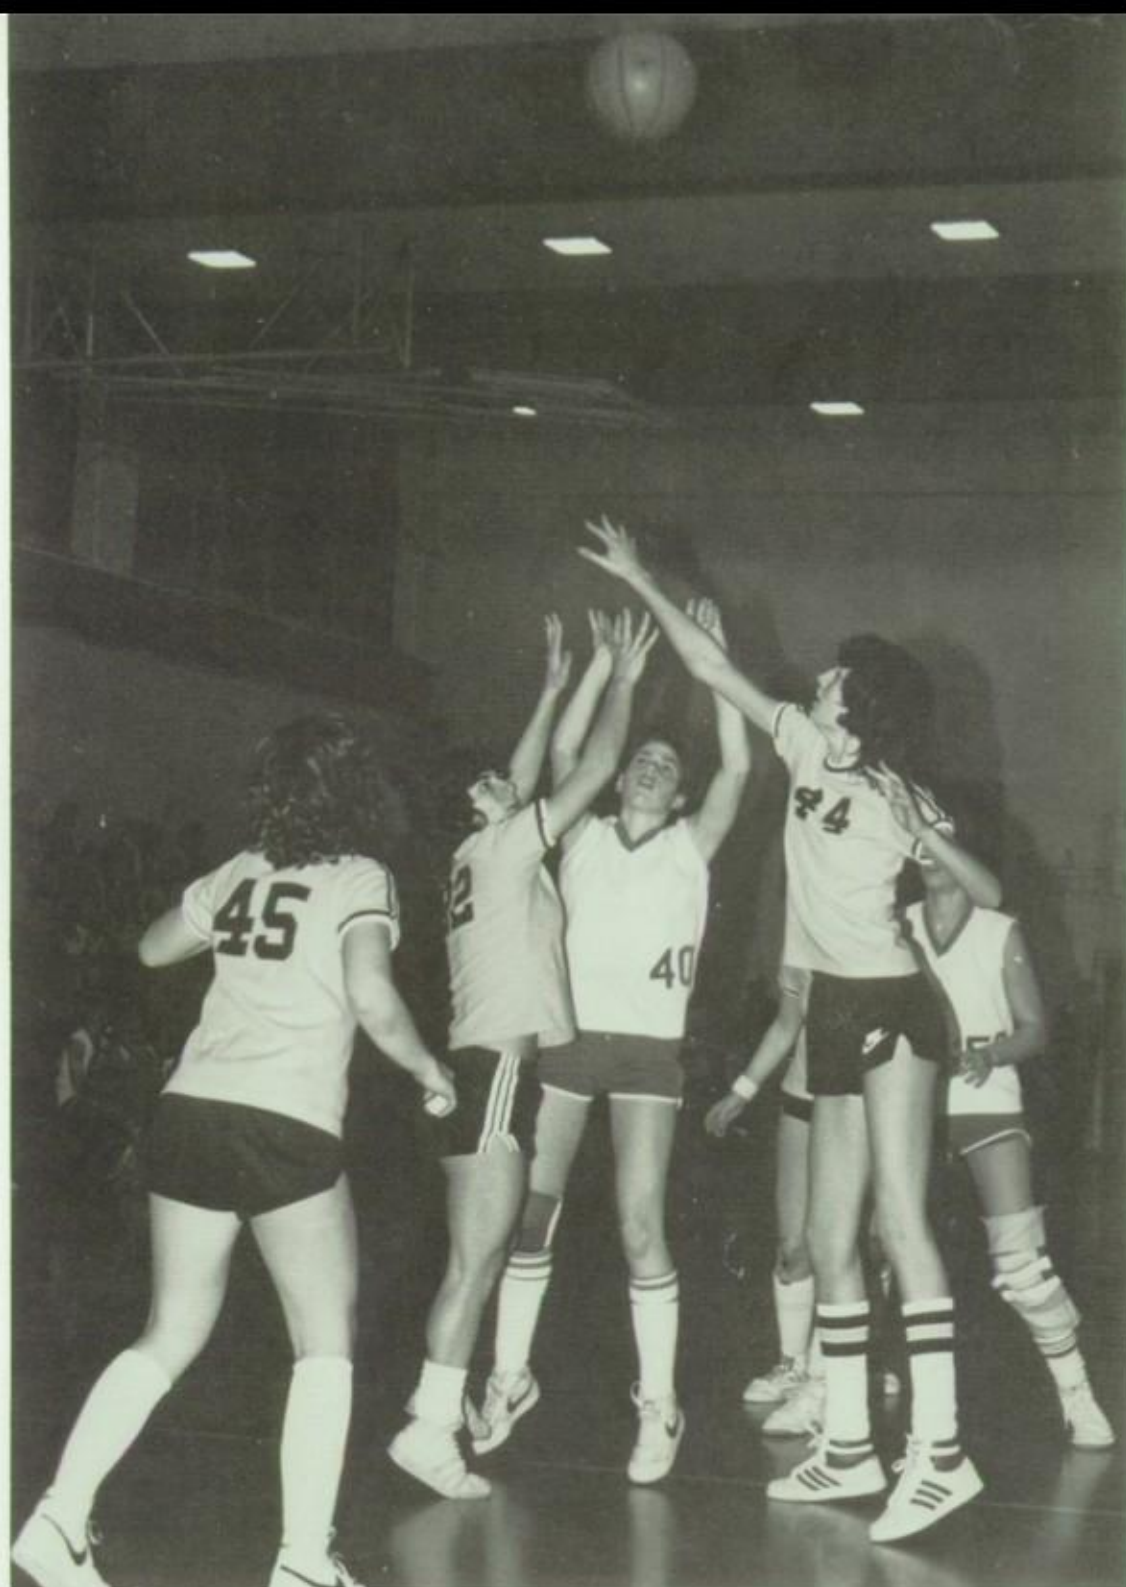

The diving team also contributed to the team's success. In SCVAL competition Jill Plant placed third and Mary Hull sixth, qualifying them for CCS. At the CCS diving finals both girls performed with perfection and completed the first round of diving.

Singled out for their extra effort and team leadership, Means was named MVP, and both Rydell and Warren received the Most Inspirational award. For JV, Ruby Schmidt was named MIP, and Francesca Cremona received the Most Inspirational award.

A formidable force

After another strong year, the varsity boys' basketball team proved to be a formidable force in the SCVAL. Ranked in CCS, the team had impressive finishes in pre-season play with second place at Chico and fifth place at St. Francis. Entering the season with a 7-3 record, the squad provided the league with numerous thrillers. Four overtimes at Wilcox and high-pressured free throws at Gunn were typical of the season.

Led by all-leaguers Scott Waldron, Jack Todd, and Brent Jones, the Eagle cagers entered league playoffs with hopes of going to CCS. The anticipation was not fulfilled, however, as the team posted disappointing losses to Wilcox and Milpitas at the end of the season. Returning seniors included Ted Barrett, Tom Bornheimer, Eric Cole, and Billy Carleton. Coach Vance Walberg cited Bruce Kai and Erik Olson as the juniors expected to lead next year's varsity.

Led by Mark Palma and Jack Mohr, the frosh-soph team posted an even record of 12-12. Their consistency in play indicated that strong teams would be on the rise in future years.

Girls' basketball: on its way up

Posting their best record in years, the girls' varsity basketball team gained the respect of all their opponents. A "Top 16" ranking in CCS gave the girls the momentum to charge into league play with a 7-2 record in pre-season. Despite setbacks, the team fought consistently against such rivals as Gunn and Mountain View, almost beating Gunn only to lose 38-34 in the final seconds. Libby Rydell and Carol Lee provided backbone to the team, supported by returning seniors, Vicki Rydell and Konni Bunya.

The JV team had yet another building year. According to Coach Frank Dirksen, "The 1982-83 season was a profitable one based upon the progress the girls made this year. The team should be able to reach new heights in 1983-84." Led by All-league team members, Michelle Tanaka and Sue Rosenstock, the future varsity had a strong base to build upon.

LA soccer shows its strength

An uncertain first half of the season crushed the LA boys' varsity soccer team's hopes for making the league playoffs. Varsity coach Agostino Paoletti was out of action until just before the first practice game, and there was some question as to the organization of the team. After losing the first three league games, varsity soccer began to make a come-back, but it was already too late. If the team's fate had depended on the second half of the season, in which they replayed the same schools, they might have gone all the way to CCS. Although the Eagle team lost easily to Palo Alto, Gunn, Santa Clara, and Wilcox in the beginning, they came back to tie Paly, Santa Clara and Wilcox and chalk up a victory against a very strong Gunn team.

Much of the soccer team's success toward the end of the season was due to senior Jon Wangsness, who, as one of his teammates said, was "the backbone of the team." Seniors Mark Lantz and Ron Burke also added to the team's strength. Burke was the leading scorer. Quick-handed Burt Foland did his part by keeping the goals scored against the team to a minimum. Juniors Scott Hyver and Evan Rauch were the outstanding rookies of the team.

The frosh-soph soccer team, coached for the first time by Roland Vieira, had five wins, four losses, and three ties to end the year with a winning season. The talented team should have much to offer for next year's varsity.

Team spirit rules girls' soccer

Coached by Diana Bishop, the girls' soccer team finished the year with an 8-3-1 record. Coach Bishop believed that the "the team worked well together" and did not name any individual stars, although Suzy Schmidt was noted as high scorer. Led by captains Ally Wreaks and Cathy Seeds, the team showed great improvement over the season and was competitive in all games. In addition, Coach Bishop stated that because the team is young, it will be strong in the years to come.

Captains Kathy Volk and Maria Park led the girls' JV soccer team to an impressive finish despite a slow start. Outstanding offensive players included Pam Heffley and Sandra Gladwin, while defense was powered by Kelly Wiggan, Heather Kuiper and Maria Park. The team's greatest victory came over Wilcox in the last game of the season. Said Coach Anna Wolfgram, "It was their group effort that defeated Wilcox. They really played well together."

Wrestling: A fight to the finish

Although the LA wrestling team did not have a fantastic season, they did well considering their size. Outstanding team member Kevin "Noodle" Cory, who was in the 107-pound weight division, earned many points for the team. However, with only eight wrestlers on the varsity team, it was hard for LA to triumph. Furthermore, there were many beginners on the team, which was coached by Dennis Batchelor.

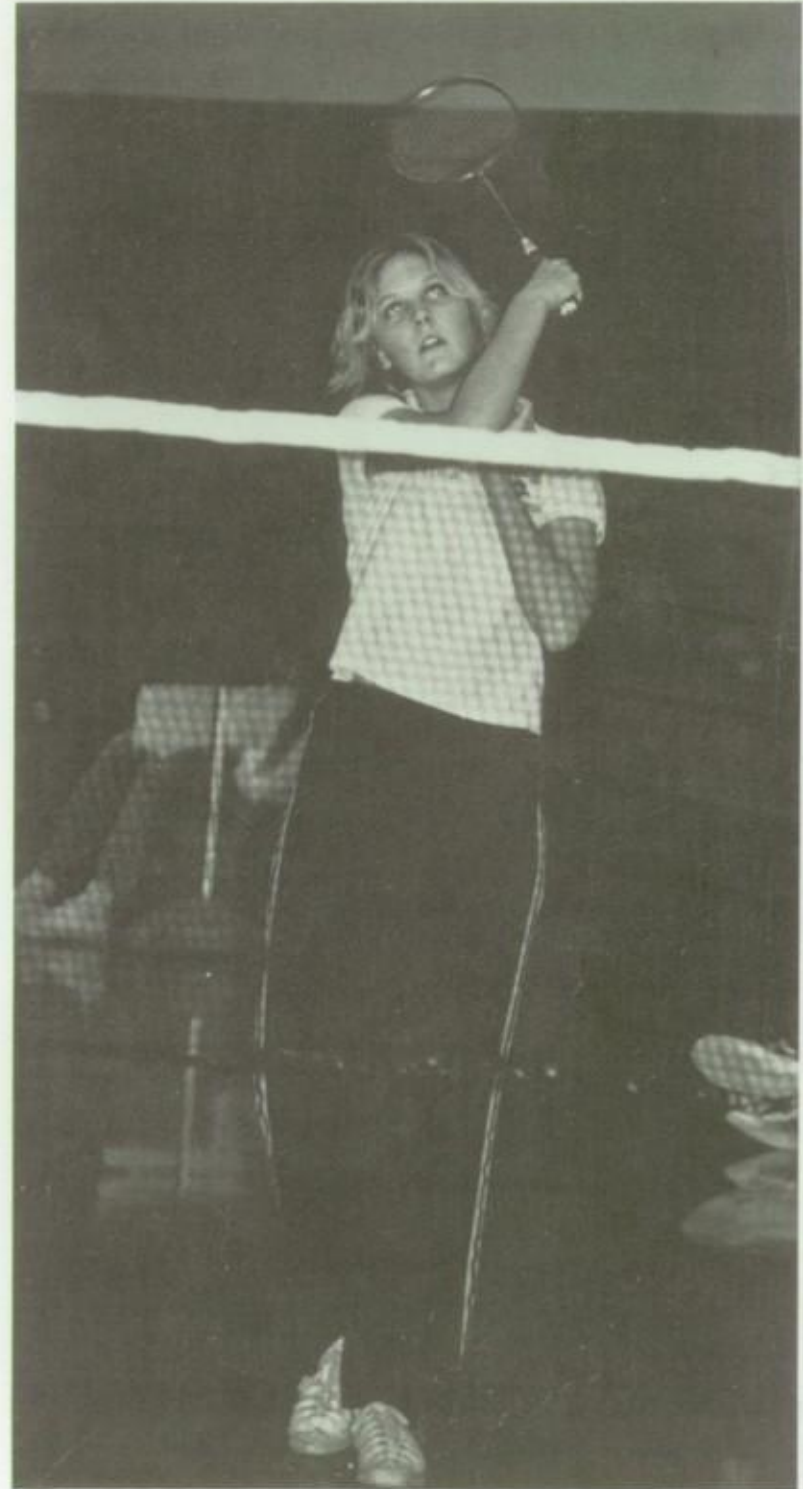

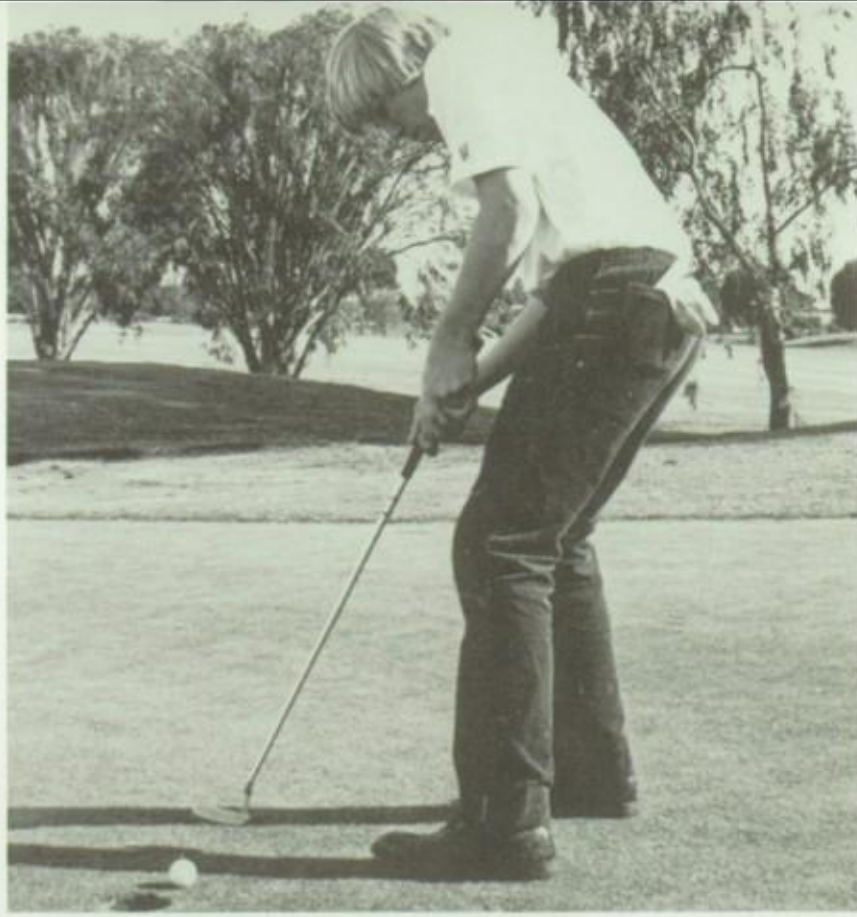

Cory, who had 13 wins and three losses, took second place in league, and his teammate, Alan Valasco, heavyweight, also placed second. Dave Gallitero earned "most improved" for the team but had a tough draw in the league tournament and did not do well.

Next year should prove rewarding for the Eagle team. Coach Batchelor commented on next year's season, "If we can get enough participation, our team should be strong. Other teams will lose a lot of wrestlers to graduation." Besides participation, LA wrestlers need the desire to be successful. "With a little work, we can improve in this area."

Teams weather the storm

In the field and on the track, the track team boasted some great athletes. Jack Mohr and John McKellar, both sophomores, were good in the shot put and the discus. Ralph Cheadle, Dave Long, John Nye, and Dan Druker, among others, were coming along strong under their coach, Todd Wangsness, with the team motto: "Get big — win big." In the jumps, Tyler Burke, another strong sophomore, led with a high jump of 6' 2". Other strong jumpers were Mark Whelan and Mark Heyl. John Mackay, sophomore, topped the pole vault at heights near 13'; other vaulters included Rob Liston and Ted Wilcox.

On the track Frank Rude was an early leader, along with the very fast Dave Mason. Tyler Burke also ran the low hurdles with an excellent time, along with Cecil Johns and Alan Robinson. In the 880 Tim Gray was coming back with Eric Wilkening, James Lutz, and Brennon Nicholas, three advancing performers. Nicholas and Lutz also took on the mile with Hubert Dubrulle, Rod Rydell, and Jim Crouch, all of whom also ran the two-mile.

Boys' track coach Alex Pasckeicz felt that while Palo Alto, Gunn, Santa Clara, and Milpitas would be fighting for league championship, Los Altos would be winning.

Although the girls' track team began its season with rain and cancelled meets, it maintained its fine reputation and held on to its tradition of winning the SCVAL championships. Fitted with a fine team of coaches — Linda Johnson, head coach and sprints; Greg Elliot, distance; Mel Ho, jumps; and Harold Yada, weights — the team has continued to prove its excellence.

Some outstanding athletes were Kate Brew, sprints; Hilary Bray, hurdles and long jump; Rachael Bray, high and long jump; Melinda Beckenhauer, discus and shot put, Shari Rogers, middle distance; and Tracy Paaso (a new addition to the team), distance and sprints.

LA baseball: power and pitching

Los Altos High School varsity baseball coach Armand Signes' baseball philosophy is to "go for the big inning the first three or four innings, then play one run at a time the last few innings."

With his new and returning players, Signes was able to fulfill his goal. Returning seniors Matt Gaal, Rick Gustafson, Scott Waldron, and Stuart Higginbotham were among the team's best all-around players.

Coach Signes indicated that the Eagles benefit from a strong pitching staff of senior hurlers Reuben Perez, Waldron, Gustafson, and Alan Canabou. Junior Dave Johanson was a good relief prospect.

As far as surprises go, Signes said that Ted Barrett, who came out for the team for the first time, was a pleasant discovery. Wade Prong, a pitcher, and infielder Mark Rodriguez were also listed as surprise players.

Describing his squad as primarily a power team, Signes named Gaal, Gustafson, Higginbotham, and Tony Stoll as being able to pound the ball with consistency.

Signes' big run producers were well-suited to the coach's theory of going for the big inning early. However, all teams need speed, and the Eagles' "speediest" players were Rodriguez and Kenton Wolfers.

Junior varsity baseball coach Bob Welcher named Bill Folland, a first baseman, and pitcher/outfielder Mark Garcia as two of his best players. Mark Gaal was also listed as a fine player. "We should have about five or six good pitchers," he stated, citing Jay Jensky in particular.

Despite rain, softball pushes on

Strong pitching and hitting were the key assets of the girls' varsity softball team. Coach Hank Wallis believes that his team was one of the top teams in the league. Sisters Chris and Kim Athens were considered to be two of the better pitchers in the area. In addition, the powerful hitting of Lisa Kanetake, Ally Wreaks, and K. Athens was essential to the team's success.

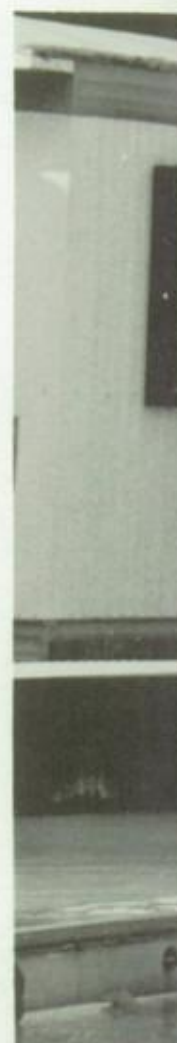

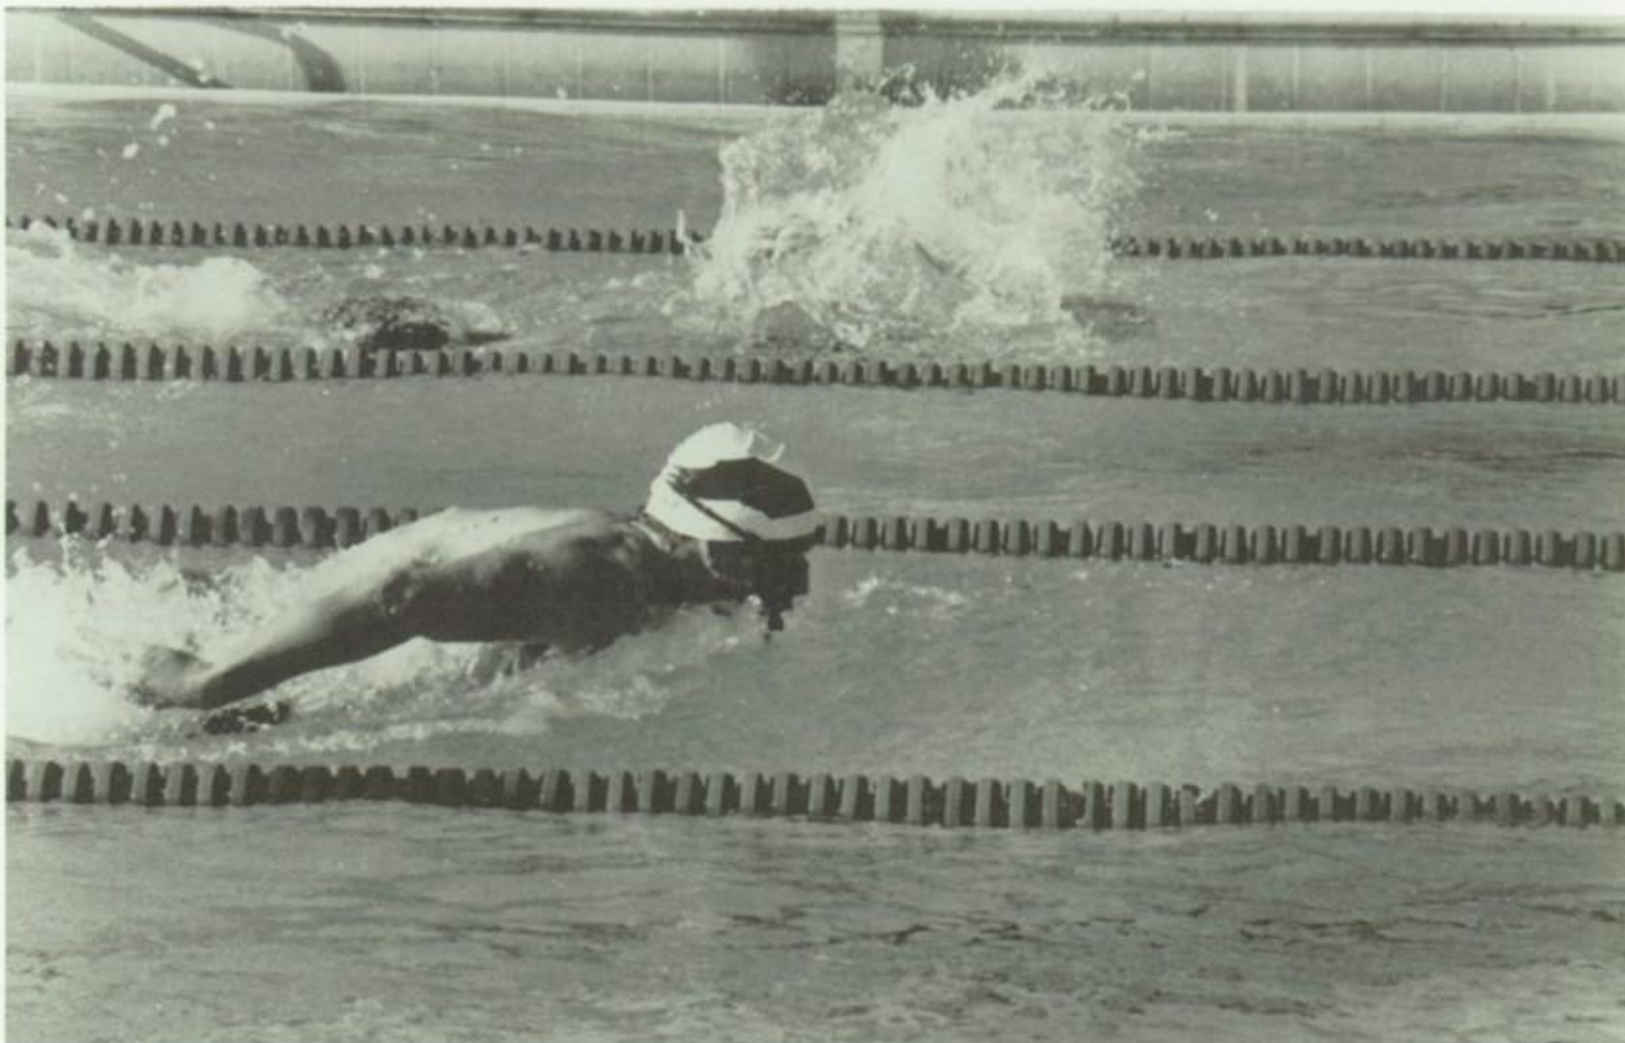

Despite an unusually late start because of rain, the girls' JV softball team finally had a chance to play and prove their prowess on the field. Their exceptional fielding and hitting skills were displayed in virtually every game. Outstanding players included Carol Lee, as well as Kelly Gardiner, Erin Hudson, and Michelle Tanaka.

Boys' swimming relies on talent

With returning seniors Erik Hardman, Dave Blach, and Brent Black, varsity swimming started the season with a win against Milpitas. Coached by Travis Wyckoff, the team expected to have a great season and hoped for a victory over Mountain View. The team depended on the talents of Hardman, as well as those of Matt Finnigan and Thomas Lindahl. John Gavenman and freshman Ricky Gould also provided strength for the Eagles as they set out to capture the league title.

Eagles fly

With many hours of practice, the 1983 gymnastics teams were determined to make SCVAL and place in the top four in the CCS championships. Live Oak was their biggest match, followed closely by the competitions with Gunn and Paly. In their first match of the 1983 season against St. Francis, the Eagles scored an impressive victory. According to Coach Monica Lodge, the varsity and JV teams were good all-around and did well in every event.

In conjunction with the outstanding coaching staff, varsity captains Kelly Packer and Sheila Tan and JV captains Shanna Moore and Liz Marston helped to provide for the spirit and enthusiasm of the teams. The most promising gymnasts for LA's future include freshman Becky Ashton and sophomores Debbie Cheli and Denise McIntosh. The teams have been first in the league for the past several years, and hopes are strong for their continued success.

Young golf team drives for success

Coach Bob Baird was enthusiastic about the golf team's chances for a successful season. Led by sophomores Eric Warden and Ross Brook, the team boasted a roster of competitive players. The overall youth of the team provided potential for continuing winning seasons.

The team was expected to do well against their cross-town rivals, Mountain View. "The future looks awfully good," said Coach Baird.

Young tennis team looks promising

Because of the incredible depth of varsity boys' tennis, the team planned to finish either first or second in its league and possibly even make it to CCS. Junior Brian Cory led the team in number one position; in fact, every player on varsity was either a junior or a sophomore. Next year, with the addition of Mike Holten, who was ineligible this season, the '84 team will be favored to win CCS.

Varsity's new coach, Bob Lowe, had faith in his team, believing that they would beat Gunn for the first time. JV coach Roland Vierra was equally optimistic.

As the season was progressing, the team's momentum was building, and team member Jim Ericson said, "The only thing that can hold us back now is social probation."

Badminton: a smashing season

With a high percentage of returning players, the girls' badminton team benefited from a powerful combination of experience and talent. Coach Ron Moser commented, "Our girls were the strength of our team." Hoping to snag a number two finish in their league, the girls rallied against the fierce competition of Gunn and Paly. Tootie Ballard and Sue Dieffenbach led the varsity singles, while partners Genevieve Fong and Cyndi Strand, Kelli Rudnick and Molly McCormick, and Amy Silver and Marion Kooi accounted for much of the doubles' strength. Heading the ladder for the girls' JV team, coached by Vance Walberg, were Lisbet Oxfeldt, Karen Brink, and Carol Kenny.

The season was unique because of the introduction of a boys' team. The boys faced tough challenges in playing well-established opposing teams, but their courageous spirit added depth to the team as a whole. Top singles player Tom Nguyen and doubles partners Richard Ho and Doug Staver contributed valuable skills toward the teams' success.
